Nostalgia 1720

Your wedding ceremony can be as exciting, meaningful, and inventive as your reception. Visualize yourself in your guests' shoes. When the ceremony is done, you want them to walk away from the ceremony saying, "That was amazing!" We wanted to share great ideas on how you can amaze your guests starting with your wedding ceremony. Talk to your partner and start planning the best half hour of your life.

The Runner

Place a calligraphed one behind the altar or even on the ground for your walk down the aisle. This is a great place to showcase words that are meaningful to you, such as your vows or lyrics from a favorite song.

The Backdrop

Place something pretty behind the altar. May we suggest an ombre flower-filled display or a giant flower wall with your color palette.

The Ring Bearer

Have your adorable ring bearer carry your bands on something unique, like a personalized pillow or a memento box.

The Flower Girl

The little ones are special! We love to see the tulle skirts on little girls, but you can also give them props to make their role even more fun.

The Bouquets

Have your bridesmaids carry a favorite flower that's special to you. For example, if your aunt's name was Rose, a bouquet of roses would be a sweet touch.

The Details

Capture this sacred moment forever in the form of a custom oil painting or watercolor. This gift is something you'll be sure to cherish in your new home together.

The Toasts

At the end of the ceremony, have the ushers pass around your fav-orite drink to start the festivities. Make your first toast as husband and wife.

The Exit

Forget the tossed rice and have your guests wave ribbon wands or sparklers as you exit the ceremony. You can also place noisemakers on seats so guests can jam while you walk out.

Then...

there is the farmhouse immersed in history dating back to the original plantation of 1720. Both Simon Mathew and his brother-in-law Simon Butler were Welsh emigrants who settled in the town of Society, later known as Barndtsville, Whitehallville, and finally Chalfont. New Britain Township was named in their honor.

We continue to preserve the original 18th century fireplaces, hardwood flooring, exposed wood beams, broad wood trim, wainscoting, and full bar. The beautiful and intimate space in the farmhouse is used for various events...as well as bridal and groom suites and after-event cordials.

Now...

Nostalgia 1720 offers a charming romantic outdoor garden with endless natural beauty. You'll find a vintage-style gazebo, a kissing bench, a beautiful coi pond, and a fountain. Nostalgia's romantic outdoor garden is an ideal setting for your event and engagement photos.

The Cameo Ballroom will comfortably accommodate up to 250 of your guests. It has a classic staircase entrance, crystal chandeliers, color-changing LED lights, and a spectacular mahogany dance floor.
