Your wedding should be about you and your partner, reflecting your style and personality. But at the same time, you should be considerate of all your family members, friends, and guests who will be celebrating you as a happy couple on your wedding day.

Here are some wedding fine points that are important to remember to make your guests' experience wonderful.

Travel arrangements for your guests

Chances are some of your guests will be out of town. Try to make booking travel as easy and affordable as possible. By reserving hotel room blocks, your guests can easily book their accommodations for your wedding. Some airlines will give a small discount if your guests will fly to your wedding on the same airline.

Transportation to and from wedding for your guests

Your wedding venue could have valet parking, but, if it doesn't, it's usually on you to provide it. All the out-of-town guests will appreciate not having to drive to the wedding. A shuttle could be arranged from and to the hotel that they are staying in.

Welcome your guests

For guests who traveled a distance especially for your wedding, it's important to make them feel welcome. Welcome bags filled with water, snacks, and a program for the wedding are a nice touch.

Seating assignments at the reception

Your guests will appreciate having assigned seating at the reception. You should seat people who know each other together, people who don't like each other further away, and elderly people not too close to the DJ or band.

Be thoughtful and say thank you

Weddings take a lot of your time, but it's very important to take the time to say thanks to your guests. If you can, during the reception, you could stop by the tables and say a quick hello. At the end of the reception, you could also make a short speech thanking everyone for coming to the wedding. And please don't forget about the actual thank-you notes that need to be sent out to all the guests!

Are you a couple that just got engaged and not sure how to choose your venue? It's very simple: schedule a venue tour and ask lots of questions, such as:

1. What wedding packages do you offer?
2. What's included in your packages?
3. Are there any hidden fees?
4. How early will I be able to start using your venue on the day of my wedding?
5. Do you schedule more than one event on the same day?
6. Is your booking deposit refundable?
7. Can I and my bridal party get ready for my ceremony at your venue?
8. Are we allowed to use the venue's grounds for our photos before and during our event?
9. Do you assign a venue coordinator to help the event run smoothly?
10. Can you customize your menu?
11. Do you have a preferred vendor list?
12. Can I bring my own décor for the day of my wedding?
