

Pet Behavior Helpline FREE consultation for Bucks County pet owners

Struggling with a mouthy dog? Confounded by your cat's behavior?
Trouble with your pocket pet?

Help is only a call or email away!

215-794-7425 x113
behavior@bcspca.org

The Bucks County SPCA's new Pet Behavior Helpline is a free, no-obligation service available to any Bucks County resident who has questions about their pet's behavior.

You'll get solid professional guidance from BCSPCA's director of animal behavior, Eleasha Gall, CPDT-KA. Eleasha has more than 25 years of experience in pet behavior counseling and training. She loves helping people and pets get the most joy from their companionship.

You may know the BCSPCA as a great place to adopt a pet. We also provide lost and found pet services, 24-hour emergency rescue of injured lost pets, subsidized spay/neuter for cats, pet re-homing assistance, as well as animal cruelty investigation and prosecution.

Since its founding in 1912, the BCSPCA has been an independent donor-supported nonprofit, not a branch of any other animal welfare organization. When you give to the Bucks County SPCA, you help provide lifesaving services for animals in your community. We serve all of Bucks County from our two open-admission, no-time-limit shelters in Lahaska and Quakertown. We're proud to have achieved and sustained a lifesaving rate averaging 93% (above the benchmark of 90% used by no-kill shelters). Visit our website to learn more about our work, to find a new companion, or to donate to help pets in Bucks County: www.bcspca.org