

Worthwhile Wear serves survivors of human trafficking in the greater Philadelphia area by providing them with comprehensive care which includes housing, employment, counseling, and various other services. This holistic care approach presents the women in their programs with the best opportunity to heal from the significant trauma that they experienced. Worthwhile Wear offers the most comprehensive services to survivors of trafficking in Pennsylvania due to the tremendous response from the larger community. Worthwhile Wear doesn't receive state or federal funding so your gifts are one way you can support survivors in their journey toward healing and restoration.

YOUR YEAR END DONATION WILL HELP:

- Expand Worthwhile Wear's housing program, The Well, so they can house more women.
- Grow their outreach program, Worth It, into 7 counties
- Purchase a new client management software to provide better care to survivors
- Fund a new counseling and consultation program
- Purchase a new van for transporting the participants back and forth to school, work and appointments.
- Continue to offer services free of charge to survivors

GIVE ONLINE AT WORTHWHILEWEAR.ORG

JOIN US ON JANUARY 11 FOR NATIONAL HUMAN TRAFFICKING AWARENESS DAY

Sign up for Worthwhile Wear's email newsletter to receive more information about our January 11 event by visiting www.WorthwhileWear.org

